

Bridal Chorus ("Here Comes the Bride")

Music: R. Wagner (1850)

Lyrics: C. Morris (2022)

$\text{♩} = 120$

Here comes the bride, match - ing her stride with her glad fa - ther who's burst - ing with pride. She's dressed in white pure, clean, and bright: a love - ly pic - ture of all that is right.

As she ad - vance - s with charm and grace, she gaze - s at her dear bride - groom's face. Soon they will pro - mise in sin - cer - est ver - se

"For rich - er, poor - er, bet - ter or wor - se, we shall be true to each oth - er a - lone" and say "I do" to God, on His ho - ly throne.

Here comes the bride. She's sat - is - fied now that she's at her be -

-lov - - ed one's side. They have be - gun a new un - ion;

bon - - ded to - ge - - ther at last, the two shall be one.